Is Agnew Bargaining?

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Washington Post quotes a congressional source as saying that Vice President Spiro T. Agnew "is engaged in plea bargaining — that Agnew's resignation is part of the plea."

The newspaper reported in today's editions that it had been told by informed sources that Agnew's lawyers are discussing the possibility of his resigning and pleading guilty to a relatively minor offense.

Neither the White House, the vice president's office nor Deputy Atty. Gen. William Ruckelshaus would comment on the report.

Agnew, who has been told he is under federal investigation in connection with alleged kickbacks, met with President Nixon Thursday and the Post quoted a White House aide as saying he left "in a very discouraged mood."

J. Marsh Thomson, Agnew's press secretary, conceded Agnew was discouraged and said, "It's understandable that the vice president might be letting some of this discouragement show."

The speculation that Agnew might resign has generated fresh discussion of presidential succession, despite attempts by his office and the White House to dampen such talk.

Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., said Friday that "grave questions exist as to the propriety of President Nixon choosing his own successor" as long as Watergate issues remain unsettled.

He said that if Agnew should quit, Congress ought to delay confirming a successor until the controversy over the White House tapes which Nixon has refused to give up is resolved.

Kennedy's statement followed the announcement that Agnew and Nixon met for more than an hour Thursday, presumably to discuss the vice president's legal troubles. Earlier sources disclosed that some Democratic House members, including party leaders, have flatly rejected former Texas Gov. John B. Connally as a possible replacement. Under the 25th Amendment, the president would name a successor subject to confirmation by a majority of both houses of Congress. With the Democrats controlling both houses, it would be difficult for Nixon to win.

Seek Pair Of Escapees From Marion

MARION, Ohio (AP)—Authorities in Marion County continued their search early today for two of four men who escaped from the Marion County Jail Friday night.

The other two men were recaptured shortly after the breakout.

One of those still at large was identified as Robert Hershberger, 31, who escaped with another man from the Marion Correctional Institution in early July.

That escape led to a chase in which a Marion County deputy was killed and several hostages were seized. A woman and her children held as hostages were finally freed when a highway patrolman slipped into a bedroom and surprised the escapees.

Hershberger was being held at the county jail on charges of escape from confinement, auto theft and rape.

The other man at large was identified as William Dunn, 27, of Dayton, being held for an alleged probation violation. Those recaptured were identified as Robert Hord, 19, charged with assault and battery and unarmed robbery, and Charles Shepherd, 21, convicted earlier this week of manslaughter.

Authorities said Dunn and Hord overpowered a deputy and dispatcher in the county jail about 7:20 p.m., then released the other two men.

Deputies said the four escapees took two guns with them.

The jail is located at the north edge of Marion.

approval of anyone to whom they objected.

The House Democrats were said to reject the idea of any potential Republican 1976 presidential contender succeeding Agnew.

Connally, who served as Treasury secretary under Nixon and switched to the Republican party, is high among potential contenders for the 1976 GOP nomination.

House sources said that among those mentioned as acceptable successors were Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., former Secretary of State William P. Rogers, Rep. Gerald R. Ford, R-Mich.,

who is House minority leader, and Sen. Edward Brooke, R-Mass.

The sources said some House Democratic freshmen asked Speaker Carl Albert to discuss an Agnew successor with Nixon, but Albert rejected the idea as premature.

Meanwhile, speculation about an Agnew resignation received new life from the surprise disclosure Friday of Agnew's meeting with Nixon Thursday.

It was believed that discussion centered, as in their last face-to-face meeting Sept. 1, on Agnew's problems stemming from his involvement in a political corruption investigation in Maryland. Agnew has denied allegations that he accepted political kickbacks.

Spokesmen for both refused to comment on the meeting except to say that Agnew had requested it.

Asked if Agnew had submitted his resignation, Deputy White House Press Secretary Gerald L. Warren said he wanted to caution against giving that impression. Later he said flatly that the vice president did not give Nixon his resignation. But he did not say whether the topic had been discussed.

ABA President Backs Impeachment If Necessary

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The president of the American Bar Association says President Nixon should be impeached if the Supreme Court orders him to release Watergate tapes and he refuses to do so.

"The President is not above the law," Chesterfield Smith, a Florida attorney, said at an airport news conference in Boston.

Smith also said he doubts that those who testify before the Senate Watergate Committee and are indicted would be able to get a fair trial. But he said he favors the open hearings anyway.

In Washington, U.S. District Court Judge June L. Green threw out a suit by the National Citizens' Committee for Fairness to the Presidency which sought to halt the public hearings.

She said the suit would violate a constitutional protection granted members of Congress. The Watergate committee had argued that the Constitution protects senators "from suits calculated to restrain the exercise of their official legislative duties."

The judge also ruled that the fairness committee lacked legal standing to sue. The group's attorney, John S.

Bottomly, indicated he will appeal.

In another Washington courtroom, Chief U.S. District Court Judge John J. Sirica ordered five of the original Watergate defendants to file affidavits supporting their requests to withdraw their pleas of guilty.

E. Howard Hunt, Frank Sturgis, Bernard L. Barker, Eugenio R. Martinez and Virgilio R. Gonzalez were ordered to file the affidavits by next Wednesday. They pleaded guilty in January to breaking into Democratic National Headquarters on June 17, 1972.

Sharp Fighting In South Vietnam

SAIGON (AP) — Sharp engagements between Communist and South Vietnamese government forces took 114 lives on both sides today, the Saigon military command reported.

All but 15 of the dead were said to be Viet Cong soldiers.

The command earlier accused the Viet Cong of attempting to almost cut the country in two by linking its forces in the central highlands with those operating along the central coast, particularly in Binh Dinh Province.

At the same time, a Viet Cong spokesman accused the South Vietnamese government of launching a series of military operations aimed at extending its control in those two areas.

In recent weeks, fighting has been reported almost daily in the central highlands, especially in Kontum Province, and in Binh Dinh Province.

The Saigon command accused the Communists of 68 cease-fire violations in the 24-hour period ending at 6 a.m. today. The Viet Cong said that, over the past week, they had lodged 19 complaints with the international peacekeeping force.

In Cambodia, the government reported continued harassment shelling of Kompong Cham, a city where government troops and the Khmer Rouge have been battling since American bombing stopped in mid-August.

The Saigon command did not publicly assess the danger of the reported linkup operation in South Vietnam. But the command said 37 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese soldiers were killed in a battle in the highlands near the provincial capital of Kontum, indicating the area is heavily contested by Communist-led troops.

Six Saigon government troops were killed in the fighting, the command said.

In Binh Dinh Province on the central coast of the South China Sea, the command said 27 Communists were killed in a battle northwest of the district town of Bong Son.

The battle southwest of Saigon lasted only a half hour, the command said, but it reported that 35 Communist soldiers and seven Saigon government troops were killed. The command said the Viet Cong started the fight near the town of Cai Lay in the Mekong Delta.

Deeper in the Delta, Communist forces blasted six government positions with 65 mortar rounds, killing two South Vietnamese soldiers and wounding 12, the command said.

The shelling occurred in Chuong Thien province, 110 miles southwest of Saigon, the command said.

In Cambodia, the battle for Kompong Cham centered on the western outskirts of the city, where the Cambodian command said insurgent shelling wounded an unspecified number of people.

The chief spokesman for the Cambodian command, Col. Am Rong, did not elaborate on the casualties. Insurgents at one time during the last month held over half the city of 70,000, but government forces have regained many parts of the city, according to the command.

State In Trading Stamp Business

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP) — Atty. Gen. Warren Spannaus has about three million trading stamps locked in his office, and he can't redeem any of them.

The stamps were collected by a state-run trading stamp redemption center that grew out of lawsuits filed in 1971 against the Gift House Corp. of Minneapolis.

The stamp company had decided it would pay off stamp savers only in wooden dishes and utensils made in the Philippines, rather than in the usual redemption goods, such as coffee pots, outdoor grills, ice buckets and ratchet wrenches.

Disgruntled housewives went to court, contending the company was breaking faith with faithful trading stamp collectors.

The court ruled against the company, and a cash redemption plan was implemented by the state. Spannaus has collected the books, sent out receipts and made out a list of payments to be made by the company.

Spannaus says his unusual role as a trading stamp handler has led to some interesting incidents.

"One woman handed me a paper bag full of stamp books at a baseball game. 'Spannaus re-called' I get them everywhere—at church, at home, in the office."

One woman sent in 27 different kinds of stamps, soap coupons, Green Stamps, Gold Bond Stamps and cigarette coupons. She expected to get credit for everything, saying it had taken "years and years" to collect them.

Spannaus mailed the collection back with an explanation that the state was only in the business of bailing out those who collected stamps from Gift House.

Others have tried to sneak in some empty books, but Spannaus has up to 20 parttime helpers checking every page and logging contents.

Over the past six months, Gift House stamp collectors have sent in more than 100,000 books of stamps. Tuesday is the deadline for stamp savers to mail their collections to Spannaus. He says the mailing of checks probably will begin next month.

The company had offered to redeem the stamps for $1.50 per book when it went out of the stamp business. Under the court order, the books will be worth $1.90 each.

The company's assets were frozen by the court until it is determined how many stamp books must be redeemed. Once checks are in the mail, Spannaus says he'll close up Minnesota's first and only state-operated trading stamp store.

Winds, Rain Hit Midwest

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Strong winds and rain swept across the Midwest today as a new wave of cooler weather dipped into the mid-continent.

Thunderstorms formed along a cold front that stretched from the western Great Lakes region into Kansas.

Less-intense storms broke out in areas of Georgia, Florida and Texas, and a front approaching from the Pacific spread rain over western sections of Washington, Oregon and northern California.

Unseasonably warm air pushed northward ahead of the Midwestern cold. In contrast, clear and cool weather prevailed over New England, the Rocky Mountains and the Western Plains.

Temperatures before dawn ranged from 29 at Montpelier, Vt., to 82 at Phoenix, Ariz.

Senate Rejects Curb On Forces

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has rejected an attempt to give Congress authority to limit the number of American troops assigned to foreign countries in peacetime.

The amendment by Sen. Harold E. Hughes, D-Iowa, was defeated 62 to 22 Friday after opponents said it would restrict the ability of U.S. forces to respond to a crisis.

The action came during a debate on the $20.4 billion defense—procurement authorization bill. Consideration of the bill continues today.

In other action on the bill, the Senate:

—Adopted 64 to 20 an amendment by Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., barring U.S. military precision aerial teams from performing in foreign countries.

—Reaffirmed the ban on U.S. military operations in, over, or off the shores of North and South Vietnam, Cambodia and Laos. The prohibition was enacted earlier as part of a supplemental appropriations bill which expires Sept. 30.

—Adopted by voice vote a provision expressing the sense of Congress that the seven per cent military force reduction ordered by the Armed Services Committee should be made equally in all ranks if possible. Sen. Walter F. Mondale, D-Minn., the sponsor, said he was aiming at the growing ratio of officers to enlisted men.

—Supported the B1 manned bomber program by rejecting 59 to 25 Hughes' attempt to have the Pentagon study alternatives.

—Refused, 64 to 20, to terminate the A10 close-support aircraft program.

The only surprise was the decision to bar the Air Force's Thunderbirds, the Navy's Blue Angels and other precision acrobatic teams from performing abroad.

Humphrey objected to a $700,000 tour of Latin America planned by the Thunderbird fliers and said the money could be better spent on domestic needs.

Noting that the primary purpose of the teams is recruiting, Humphrey said he doubts the fliers will be able to sign up any Air Force recruits in Bolivia or Chile.

Gasoline Dealer Protests Rise

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Ohio gasoline dealers don't want to close down to protest federal economic controls, but a ceiling on retail gasoline prices is driving hundreds of them out of business everyday, a spokesman for the Ohio Gasoline Retailers Association said Friday.

Jerry Imes, association secretary-treasurer, made the comment as about 300 retail gasoline dealers from across the state gathered in Columbus for a two-day discussion on the affects of Phase IV.

Under Phase IV, major oil companies have been allowed to increase wholesale gasoline prices, but service station owners may not pass the cost along to consumers.

Service station shutdowns to protest the controls have been reported throughout the nation. At least 10 Marathon dealers in the Lima area reportedly have closed down, or refused to sell gasoline.

And the Greater Cincinnati Gasoline Dealers Association was to meet today to discuss possible close-downs by about 400 members.

Egypt To Break Mideast Truce?

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Egypt has secretly warned Palestinian guerrillas that it plans to break the three-year Middle East cease-fire soon, the Lebanese newspaper An Nahar reported today.

The warning was discussed in a nine-hour emergency session of the executive committee of the Palestine Liberation Organization under top guerrilla leader Yasser Arafat in Beirut Thursday, An Nahar said.

The OGRA, however, was not advocating shutdowns or other illegal means of redressing grievances, Imes said.

"We'd only be hurting our customers and, in the long run, ourselves. We have no quarrel with motorists who want to buy gas. Our fight is with our suppliers and the government."

Most other Ohio service stations were reported open while their owners waited on a decision by the Cost of Living Council.

The council announced this week it would "make appropriate upward adjustments" in the ceiling prices for gasoline and home heating oil after Sept. 25.

Imes said the nation's gas dealers can't afford to wait long for a decision. "If it takes three months, only half of us will still be in business," he said. He said the nation's 165,000 gas dealers "could shut this country down. We don't want to, but don't try to push us too far."

The Lima Marathon dealers, who operate independently, said they were particularly irritated because Sohio company-operated stations were able to pass on their increased costs, while independent dealers could not.

Retail prices at all company-owned Sohio stations went up a penny per gallon Friday.

Weather

Partly cloudy and warm with chance of afternoon showers or thundershowers. High today, low 80s. Clearing late tonight, low, mid to upper 50s. Mostly sunny, not so warm Sunday, high, mid 70s. Possibility of rain 50 per cent today, 30 per cent tonight and 10 per cent tomorrow.

And So It Grows

By GEORGE HAMRICK
County Extension Agent
Agriculture

Fall is here and backyard gardeners with a few tomato vines probably still have a lot of green tomatoes subject to frost damage.

Chances are if the vines are in a protected place, a light frost will not do them in. But just to be on the safe side, throw a plastic sheet over them the night of the first expected frost. Be sure to take it off during the day time. If you continue to do this, you'll get a lot of ripe tomatoes before the vines are finally killed by cold weather.

Another way to use these tomatoes is green tomato relish. A lot of good recipes are floating around—just ask a neighbor or two and you'll find one.

Too, if you have ripe tomatoes going to waste, how about canning or freezing them, or you can make tomato juice. Sure comes in handy later in the winter.

With winter coming on, you may want to save grass clippings for mulch. Of course your plants probably still have some summer mulch left around them, and this is good. The best time to apply winter mulch is after the first ground freeze. Mulch applied too heavily while the soil is still warm will hold heat in the ground. This could cause some plants to remain in a succulent condition well into the first hard freeze, causing considerable freeze damage.

Shrubs, like turfgrass or fruit trees, must be fertilized. These plants need a shot of plant nutrients at least once a year.

For narrowleaf evergreens, an application of high nitrogen, lawn-type fertilizer such as 10-6-4 or similar analysis or a high phosphorus garden-type fertilizer such as 5-10-5 or similar analysis is satisfactory. Apply at the rate of 2 to 4 pounds per 100 square feet of bed area each year. Water the fertilizer into the soil.

For broadleaf evergreens, the application rate is also 2 to 4 pounds per 100 square feet of bed area. The amount may be split into two applications with one in early spring and the second after flowering.

Deciduous shrubs should be fertilized as early as possible each spring with a 15-10-5 or similar analysis fertilizer. Again, use 2 to 4 pounds per 100 square feet of bed area.

Fertilizing plants does not always make sick plants healthy. The maximum benefits from fertilizer result in plant growth when the soil has been adequately supplied with organic matter, properly drained, and sufficiently watered during dry periods of the year.

NEW YORK (AP) — Excerpts from letters we'd like to get but the postman rarely brings:

"We are lawyers representing the late Miss Hortense McWherry, whom you probably remember as the lovely redhaired girl who jilted you in high school. Later she came to regret bitterly the shabby way she had treated you, and often said it was the biggest mistake of her lifetime, because she could never hope to attract another man as fine as you.

"In time she became a recluse and kept a candle lit under the high school yearbook picture of you she pasted on her bedroom wall. To shorten a long story, she died last week, still murmuring your name as tears rolled down her cheeks.

"Her will bequeaths you half the money in her father's residuary estate. Your share comes to $500,000. Would you like us to send it to you in bills of large or small denominations?"

Dear Jim,

My wife tells me that your wife told her that you were moping because you felt you had made a first-class fool of yourself at our cocktail party last Friday.

All 4-H advisers have received a letter about the Sept. 25th meeting at 7:30 p.m. in the Grange Building. George Hamrick, Agricultural Agent for Pickaway County will conduct the meeting and we hope to evaluate the year plus air any complaints you may have.

This will also be a good time to bring out any new ideas for making our next 4-H year a better one.

We hope everyone will continue as an advisor, but if it will be impossible for you to do so come anyway, and give us the benefit of your particular experience. You new advisors should come to lend your viewpoint and perhaps hear how someone else handled a situation you may have encountered.

We hope it will be an informative, enthusiastic and thought provoking meeting. We need you and your thoughts so we hope to see you there.

Nonsense, old man. You were the life of the party. It would have laid a great big ostrich egg except for the fun you provided. All the guests were crazy about you.

Don't worry about the floor lamp. It has been broken at least five times before, and anyway Marge and I only paid $6.75 for it when we bought it at a rummage sale back in 1949.

Incidentally, we want you and your wife back at a party we're having a week from next Friday. Bring your bongo drums again, I'll get out my mandolin, and we'll show the gang some real foot-stomping music.

"Because of the mild flu epidemic, our executive committee has decided to cancel the monthly meeting of the P-T A for this Thursday night.

"This will come as a double disappointment, because we won't be able to hear until a later date the scheduled address by Dr. Shotwell for the evening on "Obsessive Guilt in Preadolescent Gifted Siblings."

"We regret having to make this decision, but, considering the situation realistically, we feel it is imperative to avoid any risks of spreading the ..."

"Dear Hubby,

"I've had a pleasant two-week stay with Mother, and my only regret is that she has decided not to come home with me and spend a month with us. My sister Grace gave birth to a baby boy Tuesday, and Mother feels it is her duty to go to her and help take care of her new little grandson. I think I'll go along with her and spend a week with them, too.

"In case you're short of money, look in our old family Bible under Deuteronomy. I hid it there for emergencies. Be sure the canary gets plenty of water, and don't soak his seeds in gin before feeding him. That doesn't make him sing better. It just makes him sullen. Love and kisses, Fanny"

Toledo Men Slain, Then Bodies Burned

MONROE, Mich. (AP) — Police today probed the slaying of two Ohio men whose charred bodies were found in rural Monroe County within the past 24 hours.

The victims were identified as Carlus Maltbia, 32, and Rudiford James, 23, both of Toledo.

Soil Testing Urgent This Fall

By GEORGE HAMRICK

County Extension Agent, Agriculture
Every fall is a good time for soil testing, but in 1973, testing the soil is especially important, says Hunter Follett, Extension agronomist, The Ohio State University. He lists the following reasons:

Some fertilizers will be in short supply. Soil testing can help farmers apply the available fertilizer where returns will be greatest.

Soil tests measure residual nutrients — what's left after crop harvest. These strongly influence nutrients available for future crops. Depletions through harvest tolls can be measured by post-harvest soil tests.

This year, many farmers are switching their crop rotations. Soaring crop prices and pressures for additional crop acres have upset many cropping programs. These changes are outdating previous soil test recommendations and fertilization patterns.

Applying fertilizer last spring was a hit-or-miss operation on many fields. Excessive rains, delayed planting, and rotation switching caused many fields to be slighted in proper fertilizer. Much of this can be remedied this fall with soil testing.

Pressures are on for more production to meet higher yield goals for U.S. agriculture in 1974. This

House Leaders

Reject Connally

WASHINGTON (AP) — House Democratic leaders have flatly rejected any possibility of confirming John B. Connally as a replacement for Vice President Spiro T. Agnew should Agnew resign, authoritative sources said today.

A contingent of Democratic House members met in the office of Speaker Carl Albert of Oklahoma on Thursday to discuss privately what action they might take should Agnew step down as a result of a graft investigation in Maryland which involves him.

Among the names which House sources said the Democrats found acceptable as vice presidential replacements were Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., former Secretary of State William P. Rogers and Rep. Gerald R. Ford, R-Mich., the House minority leader.

Mercury is the smallest planet in our solar system and the closest to the sun.

production will be possible only with high fertility.

More "old" and "new" ground is coming under the plow. The 40 million additional acres requested by USDA in 1974 have to come from somewhere. Many of these acres have been idle and neglected with no lime or fertilizers applied recently, says Follett.

Prices are up. Most signs point to higher crop prices, but prices for production inputs — fuel, equipment, fertilizers — are up too. Profits will depend on skillful management in purchasing and production. Soil testing can be one of the best tools for profitable use of these inputs, the specialist insists.

Fertilizers are non-renewable resources. Guessing isn't good enough any more in determining their fate. Soil testing is the best means to assured wise use and conservation of resources.

Farm plans and budgets are critical to farm profits. Coordinating needs, scheduled delivery and application will get farmers what they need at the right time and place.

He is in Riverside Hospital, Room 9025 and cards of cheer will keep this very active fellow occupied for a moment. Cotton and his Helen had attended the OSU football game earlier in the day when he became quite ill.

Harry (better known as Junior), Loretta and Lana Keller were in Mansfield over the weekend for a very special reason. They attended the wedding of Miss Cheryl Kaler and Mr. James Lambert.

Cheryl is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Pete Kaler. Pete is a World War II buddy and long time friend of Junior. The Kalers frequently visit with the Kellers. Our villagers Saturday overnights with the Kalers.

Senior citizens of our town who were honored on Sunday afternoon of the festival were Edna Newhouse, Essie Ater, Ethel King, Della Lemming, Bertha Porter, and Arthur Frazier. Many family members of those honored sent messages of love and affection and many were here for the honor hour.

Mrs. Della Lemming had just celebrated her 84th birthday on Thursday so well wishers gathering at her home after the program for ice cream and cake and family togetherness.

Present were: Mr. and Mrs. Dean Parker, Mrs. Robert Cramer, Mr. and Mrs. James Grigsby, Dina, Dana, Katrina and Jamie, Mr. and Mrs. Anthony DiNovo, Joey and Vincie, Mrs. James Sells, Cindy, Jody and Susie all of Columbus., Mrs. Dorothy Lemming of Groveport, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Lemming of Buckeye Lake, Mr. and Mrs. Everett McCombs of Marion, Mr. and Mrs. Harmon Lemming of our town.

Another happy family gathering was at the home of Mrs. Bertha Porter. Sunday supper was enjoyed by Mr. and Mrs. Herman Porter, Mr. and Mrs. Art Dick, sons Artie, Mack, J.B. and Eric all of Five Points, Mrs. Lawrence Reid and Bradley of Derby, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Reid of Harrisburg,

Mr. and Mrs. Steve Holbrook of Washington C.H., Mrs. C. P. Heiskell and Mrs. Mildred Hatfield of Circleville, Mrs. Vonna Raser of Commercial Point, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ellis, Mrs. Geraldine McCafferty of Columbus and Miss Lillian Hess of William port.

Mr. and Mrs. William Merriman of Marion journeyed down to join with Edwin Frazier and other relatives to honor Arthur Frazier.

During the honor hour Rev. Richard Crosby offered prayer and gave a brief address to the large crowd assembled. Rev. Crosby very accurately described our senior citizens as valuable contributing assets to our community.

They are the hub of the wheel about which all others revolve. Without them we are but naught. In our town we are richly blessed with many citizens who can share with us all their years of experience with life. How fortunate we are to have this experience upon which to guide us and serve us.

A delightful post card has been received by our household from the Gaylon Pobsts who are visiting with two of their exchange student sons in the country of Guatemala. They relate their time has been jam-packed with many interesting and exciting things and they find the people very warm and friendly. It was our pleasure to meet Carlos and Ronny while they were with the Pobst family and they do not come any finer.

Booster Corner

Meeting in regular session Wednesday evening, the Westfall Boosters re-affirmed their July decision not to participate in the Pumpkin Show midway this year.

Progress report on the new concession booth at the football field was given by Jim Hastings. Russell Shannon gave the treasurer's report and the members were pleased to know the recent Youth Horse Show profited the club over eight hundred dollars and the Labor Day Mustang Round-Up brought over one thousand dollars net profit to the coffers. In the neighborhood of five or six hundred dollars was cleared at the Williamsport Sulphur Spring Festival.

The new band uniforms ordered for the freshman band members have arrived and the Booster's share to pay is fifteen hundred dollars which was so ordered.

It was also decided to give our teams and the visiting teams of both football and basketball a sandwich (hot dog) and small coke after each home game.

Directors present were Howard Tucker, Herman Scott, John Roberts, chairman, Dixie Cummins, secretary, Shannon, treasurer, Jerry Newton, Bertha Rittinger, Clyde Karshner, Margene Looney, Gene Schleich, Hastings, Linden Gibson, Sherry Smith, Daisy Rowland. Also attending were Marvin and Dolly Thompson, Mrs. Hegarty, Coach Eckle, Sue Graffis, and a lady whose name I did not get (sorry).

Grandma Phoebe Smiley and daughter Mrs. Ruth Shippe enplaned Friday noon at Port Columbus for Macon, Ga. Accompanying them to the airport were Bill Easterday and yours truly.

A phone call Saturday morning from Sweetpea (Ruth) informed us that the plane developed problems and it was necessary to land in Kentucky to correct the difficulty. After several hours there they flew on to Atlanta where they missed the Macon connection by five minutes which resulted in another layover of considerable time.

Word was that 99-year-old Grandma Smiley stood the trip very well. She always has been a most remarkable lady. The first time to enter her former home (and now belonging to the Easterdays) without her being there was quite an emotional experience that's for sure. A crew of workmen—plumber, carpenter, electrician, paperhanger, furnace men, carpetman are busily readying the abode for our big move (all the way across the street).

The executive committee of the Sulphur Spring Festival wishes to take this opportunity to express their boundless appreciation to all those who worked so diligently to ensure a suc-

Roosevelt To Testify

WASHINGTON (AP) — Elliott Roosevelt, son of the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt, has accepted a Senate panel's invitation to appear to answer charges he helped contract for the assassination of the prime minister of the Bahamas.

That charge was levelled earlier this week by convicted stock swindler Louis PM Mastriana, who told the Senate subcommittee on investigations Roosevelt was one of two men who offered him $100,000 to assassinate Lyndon O. Pindling.

Mastriana said he turned down the offer.

Roosevelt has flatly denied the allegation and has described Mastriana as "absolutely crazy."

Sen. Henry Jackson, D-Wash., chairman of the subcommittee, said Roosevelt, former mayor of Miami Beach who now lives in Portugal, may appear as early as next week.

Story Clarified On Milk Problems

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Associated Press erroneously reported on Sept. 17 that a "Consumers Union report on alleged lead contamination involved condensed milk. The Consumers Union report dealt with evaporated milk.

Although both products are marketed in cans, the two products are not the same.

The Food and Drug Administration challenged the Consumers Union tests and concluded: "The FDA does not consider any brand of evaporated milk now on the market to be in violation of FDA rules for safety or in any way unfit for consumer use."

cessful event. Without them, it would never have been possible and so to the many business concerns who contributed so generously to defray expenses of trophies, ribbons, m.c., band, clean-up, advertising, booth building and a myriad of other details.

So, too, does Mrs. John Graffis want to take this means to publicly thank enormously all the volunteers who manned the ticket booths and did a most efficient job. Plus they were so willing to give of their time. Good citizens like this make it a pleasure to live in our village.

There are still some events where the winners have not been published and this gal will attend to that just as soon as some semblance of serenity and sanity has returned. The days have been busy, busy, busy—wееееoooo!

Mr. Francis Snyder had the misfortune to fall Tuesday while at the Farm Science Review and sustained a crushed elbow. He was scheduled for surgery Friday at Riverside Hospital, Columbus.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Goes Through Labor; He Goes To Mama

DEAR ABBY: Herb and I just had our third baby. They are 13 months apart. Each time I went to the hospital to have a baby, Herb stayed at his mother's.

The first time, a neighbor drove me. The second time, I called the police station. The third time, I drove myself in our pickup truck. (The one we used for hauling horses.) Herb says he can't stand to be around hospitals. He said the smell makes him sick.

So all the time I'm in the hospital Herb stays at his mother's. Would you believe I gave the janitor at the hospital $5 to drive me and the baby home? I don't have any relatives living anywhere near me. Herb is a Mama's boy even though he's ten years older than I am. (I'm 20.)

My doctor told me I should quit having babies and force my husband to get some counseling because he never heard of a grown man who acted this way. My doctor asked me what my husband's IQ was. What's an IQ?

NEW MOTHER DEAR MOTHER: IQ is "intelligence quotient," which means your doctor wants to know how "old" Herb is-mentally. If Herb won't go for counseling, go alone. If you're going to live with Herb and raise his family, you'll need some help.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 27-year-old married woman who had a disgusting experience. The man in the next apartment is married, retired and 67. He's started following me around the apartment grounds and swimming pool area, telling me how "pretty" I am, etc. Once he actually forced a slobbering kiss on me!

Abby, this man is 15 years older than my father. He's fat and bald and unattractive to boot.

If I were a 67-year-old woman, I'd never dream of trying to have a fling with a guy in his 20's. Sure, I might see some young man and consider him attractive, but I'd take a good look at myself and consider how I must look to HIM, and I'd let it go at that. I'm sure most women think that way.

My question: Why can't men be more realistic? What makes these old goats actually believe that young girls could have a romantic interest in them? I'd really like an answer to this because it's been bugging me.

CURIOUS IN CONN DEAR CURIOUS: Generalizations are dangerous. I'm sure there are young women who are madly in love with men who are older than their fathers. And young men who truly adore women many years their senior. Your neighbor could be senile, playing a longshot, or just a dirty old man. "Delusions of adequacy" is not a condition found exclusively in men.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 21-year-old girl with two large problems. My feet! I wear an 11 Triple E shoe. I can feel people actually staring at my feet, and some strangers have even asked me what size shoe I wear.

I'd like to wear pretty shoes, but they don't make them in my size. Abby, have you ever heard of an operation to make a person's foot smaller? They do so much with plastic surgery these days. I'd sure appreciate a prompt reply.

BIG FEET

DEAR BIG: All the orthopedic surgeons I've consulted about your "problem" agree that the foot can be made narrower by removing the small toe and metatarsal, but they wouldn't consider a foot shortening job for vanity's sake.

If I were you, I'd get down on my hands and knees and thank the good Lord for my pair of healthy "11 Triple E's."

DEAR ABBY: When my husband and I and our children are invited to someone's home for supper, I always ask if they plan to serve the kids the same dinner as they serve the grownups. The reason is that some people will serve steaks for the grownups, and give the kids hamburgers.

I feel that if my children are not going to get what the grownups get I would just as soon feed them a good dinner and leave them home.

I have been criticized for my attitude, but I happen to believe I am right.

What do you think?

ANONYMOUS

DEAR ANONYMOUS: Most children prefer hamburger to steak anyway, but regardless, it's poor manners to ask a hostess what she intends to serve.

A Page Of Opinion

Eradicate Fire Hazards

This seems a most timely period for observance of fire prevention rules. Household, particularly those in urban sections, will do well to check all accumulations of rubbish or inflammable material, whether stored in attic or near the furnace. When the rush of autumn activities is all-inclusive in its whirl, there is little time to start putting the house in proper winter order. Yet surely there can be no peace of mind for the careless home owner if an invitation to devouring flames exists anywhere about the premises. If everyone takes even rudimentary precautions, the nation's huge fire losses can be reduced drastically. Few fires are unavoidable. That hundreds of millions in property, accompanied by the loss of thousands of lives, goes up in smoke each year is attributable almost entirely to human carelessness. The obvious moral is: inspect your home, if only on the ancient theory that it's better to be safe than sorry.

Multinationals Ploy

By JEFFREY HART

In his masterly and deservedly famous study, "The Liberal Mind," British political philosopher Kenneth Minogue describes the structure of the liberal sensibility. That structure could be called "melodramatic." Though different dramatis personae fit into the structure, the plot is always the same. A liberal St. George rides into battle to rescue a Victim from an Oppressor.

Blacks, whites, Portuguese, Viet Cong, Thieu, Indians, generals, Africaners, men, women, and, of course, children can be inserted instantly into their appropriate slots in this melodramatic structure.

For the liberal sensibility, this structure provides the very meaning of politics. It therefore usually prevails over the most awkward facts. If a black shoots a liquor store owner, this by no means destroys the black's victim status.

There are those who spend a large part of their time discovering or inventing victims, and positioning them to play their appointed part in the melodramatic structure. Sometimes they serve up victims in the spirit of any manufacturer of consumer products, knowing that the liberal sensibility requires them. Without Oppressors and Victims, the meaning of life would evaporate. Often they focus on some supposed victim to further a concrete self-interest.

At the moment it is clear that the so-called multinational corporation is being cast in the role of oppressor and exploiter and being readied to play its role in the familiar melodrama.

A multinational corporation is one that builds some of its production facilities abroad, thus making and marketing some of its products in a foreign country. Invariably it hires the citizens of that country to staff its plants.

At the moment criticism of the multinational is reaching a carefully orchestrated crescendo, and these enterprises are certain to become a principal target of third-world, Communist and other propaganda during the next few years. At the recent session of the UN Economic and Social Council in Geneva, it was apparent that the more militant third-world countries, vigorously supported by the Soviet Union and its allies, were determined to make the multinationals a major UN issue, this year if possible.

The timing of this assault is revealing. A UN panel of 20 experts on the subject of multinationals is commencing hearings, and is due to report to Ecosoc by September, 1974. It is not likely that this report will lend itself to propagandistic purposes. A report by experts undertaken by the London School of Economics concluded that most of the fears expressed over multinationals are groundless. For the militant third-worlders, usually ideological socialists, and for the Soviets, the September, 1974 timetable is too slow: they want the debate to start now, and with maximum decibels.

Unfortunately, since most people lack specific knowledge, the multinationals are easy to type-cast as exploiters in the melodrama. In fact, however, they provide jobs, training and create markets in the developing nations. In fact, they have done more to promote development than the UN and all its agencies. They are the one bright spot in the UN balance of payments picture. They do not, contrary to claims, cost us jobs domestically, but rather the reverse.

In fact, the multinationals may be the most successful economic and social creation since the end of World War Two, the basis, perhaps, for a stable world order in the future.

And that, in turn, is undoubtedly the reason they are now coming under sustained attack by anti-Western political groupings.

Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — A long subdued battle between the banking and securities industries is busting into the open and soon may lead to a confrontation between regulatory agencies and maybe Congress too.

On one side is a weakened securities industry beset with more problems that it can effectively deal with at the moment but which is determined to fight against what it feels is encroachment by bankers.

Challenging them is an energetic, financially powerful banking industry that, in its efforts to expand the service products it offers customers, may be straining the meaning of regulations separating the two.

The latest episode involves the automatic investment programs being promoted by banks as a technique for the individual investor to accumulate small amounts of blue chips stocks, paying for them through monthly deductions from his account.

The banks publicize this as still another service to customers, politely declining to point out that in many instances they are merely picking up the small accounts that brokers once had but then dropped as uneconomic.

But, while maintaining that such business may still be unprofitable for them, the brokers view the move by banks as a thrust into their midst that could, if unchecked, devour them.

"We suggest that 'intrusion' is an inordinately gentle word to describe these activities," James Needham, New York Stock Exchange chairman, told the House Committee on Banking and Currency this week.

Earlier this month he sent a letter to the comptroller of the currency, James Smith, and to Ray Garret, Jr., chairman of the Securities and Exchange Commission. These men and their offices are the chief regulators involved.

The brokerage fraternity argues that it has been the intention of Americans ever since the depression of the 1930s to separate the banking and securities trading function.

The Glass-Steagall Act of 1933 sought to prohibit national banks from engaging in the sale and distribution of securities. On Feb. 27 of this year, however, the comptroller issued a statement that seems to permit automatic investment programs.

The New York Stock Exchange views this ruling as the latest incident in a gradual erosion of its prerogatives and a further blurring of the distinction between broker and banker.

In his testimony before the House committee, Needham suggested that "a strong argument can be made that the Congress — as the maker of public policy — should clearly state what is permissible and what is not."

Before that stage is reached, though, a lot of fireworks are set to explode. The securities industry is only slowly awakening to what is now seen as a serious threat and is arming itself with legal opinions.

The bankers, for their part, aren't likely to waste any time developing their business, which can be enormous. Seemingly energized by their very activity, they seem in a mood for innovation and expansion.

Senate OKs Kissinger

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate today approved Henry A. Kissinger as secretary of state to succeed William P. Rogers.

Kissinger will retain his White House position as the President's assistant for national security affairs.

The Senate Foreign Relations Committee, in approving the nomination 16 to 1 Tuesday, said its doubts whether one man could do two jobs were resolved in favor of giving the new arrangement "a fair try."

"If this system does not work, it must be reexamined," the committee said in its report to the Senate.

The committee found Kissinger, German-born former Harvard professor, "eminently qualified" for the position both by education and experience.

Sen. George McGovern, D-S.D., who cast the only committee vote against Kissinger, said he did so in symbolic protest against "the needless prolongation of the Indochina war."

J. P. McGuire, traveling freight agent and B. K. Clapp, local agent of the Norfolk and Western railroad spent a day with officials of the James J. Hinde and Sons Company showing them various manufacturing sites from the extreme north end of the city to as far south as their yard limits. Hinde and Sons were in the business of manufacturing shipping containers and wanted to locate close to the local canning industry.

They expressed surprise at the extent of the canning industry here and thought the names "Beantown" and "Tomatow" were very appropriate. Mr. Hinde remarked that he never saw a city so ripe for industrial revival as Circleville. He said they planned to construct a building which would cover 24,000 square feet.

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

A new and highly effective drug shows great promise to reduce the level of cholesterol in the body.

The drug, probucol, apparently has few side effects and is not toxic.

Dr. William B. Parsons, Jr., of the Jackson Clinic and Foundation in Madison, Wisc., had found in experimental animal studies, that the new drug works in a very special manner.

It seems to interfere with the synthesis of cholesterol in one of the steps between the ingestion of food and its concentration in the blood.

This newer knowledge, when applied to a large series of patients, showed a very definite fall in cholesterol levels in patients who were studied for three to 12 months.

It is interesting that this drug, effective for lowering cholesterol, had no significant effect on the levels of triglycerides in the blood.

These fatty substances are the target of other researches. A new drug, halofenate, already shows promise. It is hoped that before long, both triglycerides and cholesterol will be lowered effectively by the combination of diet and drugs.

In the light of the fact that cholesterol and triglycerides are so important in vascular diseases that affect the heart, the brain, and other organs, this new drug will become an important addition to the doctor's armamentarium.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Editor:

I wish to take this opportunity to thank everyone of our friends and relatives for all their help at our time of disaster.

On Sept. 8, the Pickaway Twp. Volunteer Fire Department was called to our home by Tammy, our daughter, to put out a kitchen fire. Although we had considerable damage throughout the house, we are truly thankful that no one was injured. Firemen administered oxygen to Tammy. We are certainly grateful to have such a fine volunteer department in our community.

They were here in less than five minutes and showed such kindness to the children while they handled the situation. Our neighbors are the greatest. They came in and pitched right in cleaning and worked all day while others brought in food and appliances for us to use.

I will not mention names for fear I would leave someone out. We are really very fortunate to have such fine neighbors.

Our thanks also to our parents and Beverly for taking our two babies into their homes and keeping them this past week while we are cleaning and remodeling.

Yours truly,

Synthetic joints are now used successfully for the replacement of inadequate hip joints.

A high level of success has stimulated the use of similar prosthetic joints for problems that involve the knee.

It is now possible to replace knee joints that have been injured or made immovable by arthritis and other diseases.

Persistent pain in the knee can be alleviated and better motion given to the knee in carefully selected cases.

Dr. Mark B. Coventry, of the Mayo Clinic in Rochester, Minn., has operated on more than 300 arthritic knees, mostly in the elderly.

He says, "The patient should be able to walk without aids, climb stairs, and arise from a chair."

Dr. Coventry refers to the new prosthetic appliance as a "geomedic knee." He believes that the procedure is most valuable in patients who have marked limitation of their walking capacity because of a fused or immobile knee.

It is hoped that the same concept can later be applied to give mobility to other joints of the body.

SPEAKING OF YOUR

HEALTH... The greatest need of the elderly who may have been prematurely retired from their jobs is to have the feeling that they are still needed, loved, wanted and respected.

Their accumulated wisdom does not stop with retirement.

many friends in Circleville who have responded so warmly to our family during the recent illness and death of my husband, Jack Whatley.

We lived for several years in Circleville and loved it more than I can express in words. We were transferred to Beaumont, Texas, in February and my husband died in July at the age of 36. An overwhelming number of people remembered us through those months with cards and letters, flowers, remembrances at our church and other reassurances of their concern.

The Rev. David Frazer conducted a memorial service in Circleville coinciding with the funeral in North Carolina so I could feel the presence of friends with me at that time.

A few weeks before my husband's death he asked that a fund be started at the Pickaway County YMCA if anyone wanted to make a memorial gift. His hope was that a building fund might be started for new facilities and eventually a pool. Our family enjoyed activities at the Y so much that we felt this would be a positive way to thank the community for our happy stay there.

I would like to thank all those who have contributed to this fund and to encourage others who may be interested to add to it. This little fund can go a long way toward getting a start for a worthwhile goal.

Sincerely,
CAROLYN WHATLEY

Consumer Prices Jump

WASHINGTON (AP) — Consumer prices jumped 1.8 per cent in August, the sharpest rate of increase in 26 years, the government reported today. The biggest one-month jump in food prices since 1917 was to blame.

The rise in over-all consumer prices was 1.8 per cent unadjusted and 1.9 per cent on a seasonally adjusted basis, both the highest since September 1947.

The Labor Department said surging prices for meats, poultry and eggs accounted for about 80 per cent of the steep rise in the Consumer Price Index last month.

Consumer food prices leaped a record 6 per cent in August, more than in any month since the 9.6 per cent increase in April 1917.

Government economists had predicted the disastrous price report for August following the record-breaking boost in whole sale prices recorded earlier following the removal of price restraints.

A price freeze that began June 13 ended for food on July 18 and for almost everything else on Aug. 12.

Enlisted Aides Cut By Senate

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has voted to sharply limit one privilege of military rank: the enlisted aide.

By a 73-9 vote Thursday, the Senate agreed to allow the aides — or "indentured servants" as Sen. William Proxmire calls them — only for the three highest ranks in each service. The action came as the Senate opened debate on a $21.4 billion weapons bill.

A mountain clearing in morning. Haze, not like in Washington, but fog that moistens the leaves and gives the vista down to the New River a wonderful glow.

Alone. "This is the closest you can get to what the Indians saw," says Baker. The time at home is only too brief. Soon the recess will be over. Soon again, the Senate Caucus Room, the bright television lights, the Watergate hearings.

The courthouse, the gathering place. This is where a senator sits with men who are friends first, constituents second. This is the place for swapping stories, to be told later to a nationwide audience; the stories that give a man the aura of a regular fellow. Knee-slappers.

"Ain't that thing winding down," asks the man in the white coveralls about Watergate. "There's no person in the world any more tired of it than I am," says Sen. Baker.

He walks across the way to his office, in a two-story brick and cedar shake building. "Don't let us all drown in Watergate," says White Coverall.

Baker stops to talk with son Darek, 20, who has chosen to work with his hands. A bulldozer-dump truck operator on a gang building a road. Darek, long hair, long sideburns playfully hands his father a hardhat. "He'd probably rather I'd be in school," Darek confesses.

Home. California style house. Roomy. Built with local timbers and lots of glass. Three Hondas and a couple of cars under the carport.

Off into the woods on his trail bike. The mountain air reddens the face and blows the hair. Why would a man leave this for Washington in the summer, oppressive from heat and pollution and the messes modern man has got himself into?

Then to the hammock out back to read a light, humorous book by Sam Levenson who writes about the old days. Reading nostalgia in a nostalgic place.

"Here's where I decided to run for the Senate," Baker says. Where better can a man make decisions than under a couple of shade trees.

And finally a romp with Dum-Dum, a St. Bernard. Down the long driveway of home. "She's a stubborn female," says the senator as he tries to coax Dum-Dum out of the family swimming pool.

And that's how it is, for Howard Baker, a man at home.

Children Services Board Discusses Adoption

Three caseworkers and their supervisor of the Pickaway County Children Services Board attended a regional meeting Thursday of the Adoption Resource Exchange. Margaret Barnes, Pat Whited, Eileen Winkelman and supervisor Virginia Adkins traveled to the Hocking Valley Motor Lodge near Nelsonville for the meeting.

Athens County Children Services Board acted as host at the meeting. The speaker for the occasion was Max F. Bucey, Supervisor of the State Child Placement Services Unit of the Department of Public Welfare.

The Adoption Resource Exchange is a unit of the State Department of Public Welfare which works in cooperation with local children services boards and welfare departments. Main objectives of the exchange are to develop, establish and expand adoption and foster care programs for children and provide a registration service for public and private agencies to list hard-to-place children.

In his speech, Bucey explained the role of the unit in assisting county level agencies to place children for adoption. He pointed out that prospective parents who cannot meet the financial standards for adoption but meet all other criteria can be provided with assistance. Through this means, disabled children or those with other special needs can be placed.

Money for financial assistance is raised through the department's Subsidized Adoption Program. The program allows county welfare departments and children services to supply funds for such placement.

The State Child Placement Unit will also assist counties to establish guidelines to follow in conducting home study evaluations before children are placed in adoptive or foster homes.

Bucey emphasized more than 10,000 Ohio children now in foster homes could find suitable adoptive homes if existing state laws were changed to allow more people to participate in the adoptive process.

Sixteen members were present to elect Julie Plum as news secretary. The traveling door prize was won by Judy Little.

Claire Raueas was guest speaker for the Tuesday evening meeting in the home of Mrs. Jerrel Anderson, 1072 Georgia Road.

The business meeting, attended by 19 members, was conducted by Judy Smith, president. Plans were made for a spring garage sale to aid the student nurse scholarship fund. Volunteers were asked for the next Blood Bank on Oct. 2nd.

Kathy Tomlinson presented information on a course being offered at Berger Hospital in "Coronary Care Unit" starting Nov. 5th and continuing for 12 weeks. Any interested nurse may contact the hospital.

GOOD SUPPER

Eloise Davison's eggplant and sausage fondue, salad bowl, French bread, fruit compote and beverage.

ELOISE DAVISON'S EGGPLANT AND SAUSAGE FONDUE

The donor of this unusual and delicious recipe is well remembered as director of the Home Institute of the old N.Y. Herald Tribune.

1 eggplant, about 1½ pounds
1 cup boiling water
1 cup evaporated milk, undiluted
½ pound bulk pork sausage
½ cups soft bread cubes
½ teaspoon baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons finely grated onion, pulp and juice

Pare eggplant and dice — there should be about 2 quarts. Cook in boiling water until tender-drain and mash — there should be about 1½ cups. In a medium saucepan scald milk; add sausage and break up fine. Stir together the bread cubes, baking powder and salt; add with onion to sausage mixture; mix well. Add eggplant and mix well. Turn into an ungreased 1½-quart oblong glass baking dish (10 by 6 by 1¼ inches) or similar utensil; bake in a preheated 350-degree oven until lightly browned and set—about 35 minutes. Cut into portions and remove with a wide spatula. Makes 6 small servings.

CHINESE SUPPER

Egg rolls with mustard and plum sauce, pork with bamboo shoots, rice, bean sprout salad, pineapple and green tea.

PORK WITH BAMBOO SHOOTS

1 egg
2 tablespoons soy sauce
½ teaspoon sugar
1 teaspoon cornstarch
¾ pound (1½ cups) thin strips lean tender pork about ¼ inch wide and 1½ inches long
2 tablespoons salad oil
1-3rd cup coarsely chopped onion
1 can (8 ounces) bamboo shoots (drained, thinly sliced and cut in ¼-inch wide strips)
1 scallion (green onion), thinly sliced, including green part

In a shallow wide dish with a fork or a small whisk beat egg until yolk and white are combined; add soy sauce, sugar and cornstarch and beat until smooth. Add pork and mix so all strips are coated. In a large skillet over moderate heat, heat oil; add pork and its marinade and the onion; mix well and, stirring, cook a few minutes; cover and simmer until pork is cooked through (it should look white inside when a strip is cut) — about 10 minutes. Add bamboo shoots and heat, stirring several times, for a few minutes. Garnish with scallion. Makes 4 servings when served with other dishes on a Chinese menu.

THE BRIDE COOKS DINNER

Cream of tomato soup, fried whiting, French fries, snap beans, cucumber salad, cupcakes and beverage.

FRIED WHITING

This fish, usually available in the fall, is relatively inexpensive; it has a white and delicately flavored flesh.

4 small whiting, about 1¼ pounds
1 egg
Salt and pepper to taste
1-3rd cup fine dry bread crumbs
Fat for shallow or deep-frying

Have the heads and backbones removed from the fish. Wash and dry. In a shallow container with a fork or a small whisk, beat egg with salt and pepper just enough to combine yolk and white. Dip fish, one at a time, in egg and then in crumbs. Fry fish, in shallow or deep fat heated to 365 degrees, until cooked through and browned. Serve at once; garnish with lemon wedges. Makes 2 servings.

2 Women Face Cruelty Charges

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP)—Two women charged with 17 counts of cruelty to animals will have hearings Monday in Mahoning County Court, and the Youngstown Humane Society said it plans to file additional charges against three more persons.

The two women were charged Friday, a week after Humane Society officers and police seized eight horses, two colts and two ponies in a dusty corral in suburban Austintown. The humane society said all 12 were malnourished and diseased.

A veterinarian said two more horses had to be destroyed because of their condition.

ORDINANCE NO. 919 AN ORDINANCE TO PROVIDE FOR THE ISSUANCE OF NOTES IN ANTICIPATION OF THE ISSUANCE OF BONDS TO PAY COSTS OF IMPROVING AND ENLARGING THE WATERWORKS SYSTEM OF THE VILLAGE OF ASHVILLE BY CONSTRUCTING WATER TREATMENT FACILITIES TOGETHER WITH WATER LINES AND ALL NECESSARY AP- PURTEANCES, AND DECLARING AN EMERGENCY.

WHEREAS, pursuant to Ordinance No. 823, passed September 15, 1969, notes in the aggregate principal amount of $220,000, dated October 20, 1969, were issued for the purpose hereinafter stated, which notes were retired from the proceeds of $220,000 notes dated October 20, 1970 and issued pursuant to Ordinance No. 846, passed September 14, 1970, which notes were retired from the proceeds of $220,000 notes dated October 19, 1972 and issued pursuant to Ordinance No. 860, passed September 18, 1972, stated to mature on October 19, 1974;

WHEREAS, this Council finds that it is necessary to renew such outstanding notes at this time in lieu of the issuance of bonds in anticipation of which such notes are issued;

WHEREAS, the Clerk has certified that the estimated life and usefulness of the property and improvements contemplated is at least five years, and has further certified that the maximum maturity of bonds calculated in accordance with Section 133.20 of the Revised Code of Ohio, is forty years and that the maximum maturity of notes is October 18, 1974;

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT ORDAINED by the Council of the VILLAGE OF Ashville, Pickaway County, Ohio:

Section 1. That it is necessary to issue bonds of the Village of Ashville in the principal sum of $210,000 to pay costs of improving and enlarging the waterworks system of the Village by constructing water treatment and storage facilities together with water lines and all necessary appurtenances.

Section 2. That said bonds shall be dated approximately October 1, 1974, shall bear interest at the estimated rate of six per centum (6 per cent) per annum, payable semi-annually, until the principal sum is paid, and shall mature in twenty-five substantially equal annual installments after their issuance.

Section 3. That for the purpose of raising money in anticipation of the issuance of said bonds, it is hereby declared necessary to issue and there shall be issued notes of the Village in the aggregate principal amount of $210,000 to pay and retire said outstanding notes. Such notes shall be issued in a series and in such number and denominations as determined by the Clerk-Treasurer. Such notes shall be dated October 19, 1973, shall bear interest at the rate of 6 1/2 per centum per annum, payable at maturity; and shall mature on October 18, 1974.

Section 4. Such notes shall be executed by the Mayor and Clerk-Treasurer and bear the seal of the corporation. They shall be payable at the office of the Clerk-Treasurer, Village Hall, Ashville, Ohio, and the express upon their faces the purpose for which they are issued and that they are issued pursuant to this ordinance.

Section 5. Said notes shall be first offered to the Clerk-Treasurer as officer in charge of the Bond Retirement Fund, and, if not taken by said fund, are hereby awarded and sold to Rose, Wade & Company, for not less than par value thereof; and the proceeds from such sale, except any premium, shall be paid into the proper fund and used for the purpose aforesaid and for no other purpose, for which purpose said money is hereby appropriated. Any premium shall be transferred to the Bond Retirement Fund to be applied in the payment of principal and interest of said notes in the manner provided by law.

Section 6. Said notes shall be the full general obligations of the Village and the full faith, credit and revenue of said Village are hereby pledged for the prompt payment of the same. The par value to be received from the sale of the bonds anticipated by said notes and any excess funds resulting from the issuance of said notes shall be the interest thereon, and is hereby pledged for such purpose.

Section 7. During the year or years while such notes run there shall be levied on all the taxable property in said Village, in addition to all other taxes a direct tax annually not less than that which would have been levied if bonds had been issued therefor without the prior issue of said notes. Said tax shall be and is hereby ordered computed, certified, levied and extended upon the tax duplicate and collected by the same officers, in the same manner and at the same time that taxes for general purposes for each of said years are certified, extended and collected. Said tax shall be placed before and in preference to all other items and for the full amount thereof. The funds derived from said tax levies hereby required shall be placed in a separate and distinct fund, which, together with the interest collected on the same, shall be irrevocably pledged for the payment of the principal and interest of said notes or the bonds in anticipation of which they are issued when and as the same fall due, provided, however, that in each year to the extent that the income from the waterworks system is available for the payment of such notes and bonds and is appropriated for such purpose, the amount of such tax shall be reduced by the amount of such income so available and appropriated.

Section 8. It is hereby determined and recited that all acts, conditions and things necessary to be done, precedent to and in the issuing of said notes in order to make them legal, valid and binding obligations of the Village of Ashville, have been done and performed in regular and due form as required by law; and that no limitation of indebtedness or taxation, either statutory or constitutional, will have been exceeded in the issuance of said notes.

Section 9. The Village hereby covenants that it will restrict the use of the proceeds of the notes in such manner and to such extent as may be necessary, after taking into account reasonable expectations at the time the debt is incurred, so that they will not constitute arbitrage bonds under Section 103(d) of the Internal Revenue Code and the regulations prescribed under that section. The fiscal officer or any other officer having responsibility with respect to the issuance of these notes is authorized and directed to give an appropriate certificate on behalf of the Village, for inclusion in the transcript of proceedings, setting forth the facts, estimates and circumstances and reasonable expectations pertaining to said Section 103(d) and regulations thereunder.

Section 10. The Clerk-Treasurer is hereby directed to forward a certified copy of this ordinance to the County Auditor.

Section 11. This ordinance is hereby declared to be an emergency measure necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health and safety of said Village, and for the further reason that the immediate sale of said notes is necessary to enable the Village to retire said outstanding notes and thus protect the credit of the Village; wherefore, this ordinance shall be in effect immediately upon its passage.

Tigers Clipped By Athens Bulldogs, 22-8

By BILL McGAFFNEY
Herald Sports Editor

Athens exploded for two touchdowns in the last three minutes of the second quarter and came up with four key pass interceptions to gain a 22-8 decision over the Circleville Tigers in a hard fought game Friday night on the Red and Black turf.

Circleville dominated the first quarter and appeared to be in control as the Tigers ran 21 plays while Athens had the ball for eight attempts. But the Tigers were unable to turn their two sustained drives into points on the scoreboard and the period ended in a scoreless deadlock.

Athens took control in the second quarter and tallied on a 10-yard pass from Don Skinner to Jerry Cunningham with 3:01 remaining in the period.

Then Tim Poston picked off a stray Circleville aerial a minute later and tore up the turf down the left sideline for 50 yards and another Bulldog touchdown.

John Hull split the uprights with 36-yard field goal for the Bulldogs in the third stanza. Brent Hawk rammed over from the four-yard line in the fourth quarter and Hull kicked the conversion to complete the Athens scoring.

Circleville score came on a two-yard plunge by Eddy Richter to cap a 54-yard drive late in the fourth quarter. Perry Hoskins hit Rick Sampill with a two-point conversion pass to account for the Tiger total.

In the statistic department things were fairly even. Circleville had a total of 10 first downs, six rushing, three passing and one by penalty. Athens moved the yard markers on 11 occasions, nine by rushing and two through the air.

The Tigers compiled a total of 135 yards in the contest, 52 rushing and 83 through the air lanes. Athens picked up 100 yards on the ground and added 70 by air for a total of 170.

Circleville went to the air 25 times and connected on 11 while the Bulldogs hit on four of 11 attempts.

The Tiger defense did a good job of containing the strong running game of the Bulldogs but got stung on several passes for good yardage. Interceptions by Athens not only put a six pointer on the scoreboard but set up the field goal and killed a couple of offensive efforts by Circleville.

Richter, playing with a bad hip, was the offensive leader for Circleville as the tough tailback rolled for 45 yards on the ground and gathered in four passes for 27 additional yards.

Reggie Radcliff, the Tigers crunching linebacker, led the defense with nine tackles, a blocked punt and a blocked kick on an extra point attempt. Rock Davis and Joe Smith added strong defensive support for the Red and Black.

"I'm proud of our kids for the character, class and desire they displayed after losing a heartbreaker last week," Circleville Coach Larry Cook said. "They lost to a good ball team tonight and have nothing to be ashamed of.

"I think the turning point came in the first quarter when we failed to get on the board after controlling the ball most of the period," Cook commented. "Our defense did a fine job against the powerful running game of Athens and our offense showed poise in our touchdown drive."

In their opening series the Tigers moved to a pair of first downs before it stalled and they were forced to punt.

Athens failed to move and Reggie Radcliff roared through to partially block the Bulldog punt and give the Tigers possession at midfield.

MOVING THE MUSCLE — Circleville's Perry Hoskins 12, Reggie Radcliff 66 and an unidentified Tiger apply blocks to Athens' John Hull 40 and Jim Strekal 75 and provide running room for the Tiger tailback, Eddy Richter 44. Richter was the leading ground gainer for Circleville in the 22-8 loss to the Bulldogs Friday night in Roundtown.

PAT ON THE BACK—Reggie Radcliff 66 appears to be getting a friendly greeting from an unidentified Tiger teammate as the Athens ball carrier is piled up. Radcliff was a standout in the Circleville defense with nine tackles, a blocked punt and a blocked kick on a point after touchdown attempt.

Ground-Gainers Active In NFL

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

You remember 1972...the National Football League's Year of the Runner. Well, say hello to 1973 and what looks like an instant replay for those guys who lug the ball through the line.

Nine NFL runners gained 100 or more yards in last week's openers and will be looking for more yardage when Week Two arrives Sunday.

And Dallas Coach Tom Landry will have that same number in mind, but he'll be shooting for career coaching victory No. 100 when he sends the Cowboys against New Orleans in Monday night's nationally televised game.

Landry got No. 99 last week when the Cowboys just managed to beat Chicago 20-17.

Miami's defending Super Bowl champions also are after a record. The Dolphins have won 18 consecutive regular season games, tying the NFL record set by the Chicago Bears in 1933-34 and matched by the Bears in 1941-42. One more triumph would give them the record all to themselves. Oakland will try to spoil the plans.

Meanwhile, half of Sunday's 12 games will be available to home fans on local television because they were sold out 72 hours before kickoff. That compares to nine of 12 games sold out and shown on home TV last week.

Look for Los Angeles and Buffalo to use more of the ground game that worked so well for those two teams in first game victories last week.

The Rams will go against Atlanta Sunday.

Buffalo's O.J. Simpson had the best day any running back in the history of the NFL ever had, rolling up 250 yards last week. San Diego gets to try slowing him down.

The National Football Conference has four unbeaten teams and two of them, Washington and St. Louis, go at each other Sunday. The other two are Dallas, bidding time for Monday night's game with New Orleans, and the New York Giants, up against the Philadelphia Eagles.

Two of the American Conference's unbeaten, Pittsburgh and Cleveland meet in a key Central Division test.

Billie Inglis Signs

Contract With Sabres

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)— Billy Inglis, the American Hockey League all-star center here in 1972, has signed a multi-year contract with the Buffalo Sabres organization.

Inglis, 30, was captain of the Cincinnati Swords, minor league property of the Sabres, and led them to the Calder Cup in the AHL championship series last spring.

The United States holds a 15-3 edge in Ryder Cup golf matches with Great Britain. One match ended in a tie. The matches were first played in 1927.

LE Braves Lose To CWHS, 28-13

Logan Elm was defeated by Canal Winchester, 28-13, Friday in a Mid State League football game played on the CW Indians gridiron.

It was a game of "the big play" for both teams. And the big play came first for Logan Elm. The Braves kicked off and on Canal Winchester's first play, a fumble was recovered by the Braves.

LE quarterback Steve Sargent handed off to Terry Crumley on the Braves' first play from the CW 47-yard stripe. Crumley rambled 45 yards to the five-yard line before he was knocked out of bounds. A block by Seth Driesbach helped spring Crumley for the big run.

Fullback Dan Ramey carried on two successive plays, moving into paydirt from the four with the ball game less than two minutes old. Wes King booted the extra point and the Braves led 7-0. But then it was Canal Winchester's turn for "the big play."

the Indians started on the Logan Elm 33-yard line. On a third and seven situation, CW quarterback Jeff Black looked as though he were going to be thrown for a big loss. But he scrambled, spotted Craig Hartman in the open far downfield and fired a pass in his direction. Hartman gathered in the football and added another 10 yards before he was tackled at the 10.

Hartman carried once and then Black moved into the endzone on a quarterback keeper. The conversion was a pass from Black to Mark Vanmeter for two points and an 8-7 lead. There was 2:53 to go in the first quarter.

The Indians scored again with explosive quickness after The Braves were forced to punt from their 34. Hartman took the handoff from Black at the 38 yard line, hit the middle of the line, cut to his right and went all the way to score, 62 yards. Black missed the kick and the score was 14-7.

Again the Logan Elm offense was stymied by the Indians and they punted to the Canal Winchester 25-yard line where Hartman picked up the ball and ran it back to the Braves 24.

On the first play from scrimmage Dan Cook zipped through the right side of the LE line and dashed all the way for the TD. Jeff Black kicked the extra point for a 21-7 lead for the Indians with 10:08 to go until halftime.

Neither team could generate any offense for the rest of the first half.

The Braves couldn't do anything with the opening kickoff of the second half and had to punt from their own 19-yard stripe. The ball went to the 45 and the Indian who caught it ran it back three yards to the 42.

They made a key first down on a fourth-and-inches situation at the 33 and four plays later Hartman raced 23 yards for his second touch down of the game. Black again kicked the extra point for a 28-7 lead with 6:19 to go in the third quarter.

Logan Elm controlled the ball for much of the remainder of the game. Once they had to give up the ball on downs at the 10-yard line. And with time running out, the Braves backed Canal Winchester deep into its own territory.

The Indian punt went from the six to the 31-yard marker. LE's first play was a 3-yard plunge by Ramey. Two passes fell incomplete and then Sargent found Crumley for a 28-yard touchdown strike. A pass for the extra points was nullified when the Braves had 12 men on the field. Set back 15 yards by the officials, the Braves tried again but although the pass was complete the receiver was pushed out of bounds just before he crossed the goal line.

LE tried an onside kick after that final TD. It was touched by an Indian and then picked out of mid air by Brad Luckhart who ran it to the 20 before he was tackled. But LE could not penetrate no deeper as time ran out.

Logan Elm's leading rusher was Terry Crumley with 44 yards. He caught the TD pass for 28 and added 60 yards in kickoff and punt return yardage.

Steve Rawlins caught two passes for 25 yards and Jeff Reichelderfer caught four for 37 yards. The other completed aerial was snared by Brad Luckhart for 14 yards. Ramey gained 29 yards rushing.

Logan Elm, 0-3, travels to Fairfield Union, a 31-0 loser to Millersport last night. Canal Winchester is 3-0 on the season.

CINCINNATI (AP) — The Cincinnati Bengals cut quarterback Tim Van Galder and veteran guard Guy Dennis to make room for two additions Friday.

Picked up by the Bengals were quarterback Mike Ernst, who was recently cut by the Denver Broncos, and 250-pound fullback Ed Williams.

With Richter slashing and slanting Circleville moved to the Athens 27 before dying out. A fourth down field goal attempt fell short and Athens took over as the quarter ended.

Neither team could generate a head of steam on their next series and they traded punts. Athens again had possession and began to move from its own 10-yard marker.

With Doug Elwood churning up yardage and Skinner hitting Terry Hawks on a 33-yard pass play the Bulldogs had a first and goal to go on the Tiger 10. On the second play, Skinner spotted Jerry Cunningham in the endzone and laid the ball in his hands for six points. The kick was blocked by Reggie Radcliff and Athens held a 6-0 lead with 3:01 left in the second frame.

Two plays later Tim Poston gathered in a Circleville pass at the 50 and scampered into paydirt for another six pointer. The extra point kick was good but Athens suffered a five-yard penalty on the play and this time the kick failed. Now Athens was out in front 12-0 with 1:50 still blinking on the clock.

Circleville promptly showed that they too had come to play.

Starting from their own 35 the Tigers roared back and Perry Hoskins hit Herbie Sturgell with a pass, connected with Joe Smith twice and laid the ball in Rick Sampill's hands and the Tigers had the ball on the Bulldogs' 25.

But now the clock became the villain with only one second remaining. An attempted field goal was wide to the left and the Tigers went to the locker room trailing 12-0.

On their second series in the second half Athens put together a drive but Circleville dug in at its own 29 and took the bark out of the Bulldog to kill the drive.

The Tigers went to the air on the next play but an Athens defender picked it off to give the Bulldogs possession on the Red and Black 18.

With fourth on the 15, Athens went for the field goal and Hull got the job done to run the count to 15-0 with 3:32 left in the third quarter.

Early in the fourth frame the tigers were forced to punt. But Terry Hawks broke through to block the kick and the Bulldogs were on the Tiger 19.

Six plays later Brent Hawk crashed over from the four and after Hull kicked the conversion Athens led 22-0 with 9:19 to go.

With 5:22 left the Tigers had the ball on their own 46. They decided it was the time for the Tiger to roar—And roar it did.

With Hoskins connecting with Richter and Doug Palm, and "Steady Eddy" (Richter) twisting the tail of the Bulldog with some fancy slashing and dashing, Circleville raced to the Athens nine-yard line.

Pat McNaughton roared through the middle like a runaway locomotive before being stopped on the two. Richter shot over the middle into paydirt and the Tigers were on the board with 22 seconds left in the game. Hoskins hit Sampill for a two-point conversion pass.

On the last play of the game, Athens tried to light the scoreboard with a long bomb but Circleville's Wade Camp grabbed the pigskin and it was all over.

Circleville is now 1-2 and will host Greenfield Friday in the South Central Ohio League opener.

Controlling the ball during most of the game, the Warriors racked up a total of 235 yards rushing, with Westfall gaining only 63 yards.

Westfall completed eight of nine passes for 26 yards with Adena completing two for four totaling 42 yards with one pass intercepted.

Penalties totalled five for 35 yards for Westfall and six for 60 yards for Adena.

Vikings Crush Olentangy In Metro League Tilt, 30-0

Terry Lambert turned in a terrific offensive performance to tally four touchdowns and scamper for 170 yards as Teays Valley crushed Olentangy, 30-0, in the opening of Metropolitan League play Friday night on the Braves' home grounds.

The elusive tailback hit paydirt on runs of three, 46, two and one yards to set the lights in motion on the scoreboard.

But it was the Viking offensive unit that controlled the ball game on sustained drives of 48, 68, and 54 yards to pave the way for the touchdowns.

Despite the fact that they were called 12 times for a total of 100 yards in penalties, which didn't help the Viking cause, they proved they are for real and served notice that the rest of the Metro League had better take notice.

Ryder Cup Match Even; Singles Set

MUIRFIELD, Scotland (AP) — The captains of the United States and British Ryder Cup teams were agreed on one thing today—it's going to be close.

"And I think it's going to be really close," said Jack Burke Jr., non-playing skipper of the American team which is shooting for a 16th victory in 20 Ryder Cup matches.

"I have the feeling it's going to go right down the line, all the way. Remember, too, that in singles matches, when you get belly to belly, it's another game."

Bernard Hunt, the British captain, said: "I'm disappointed of course that we lost our early lead, but we'll come out very strong on the last day."

Burke's men, who were trailing with 2½ points to Britain's 5½ after Thursday's opening play over the trying Muirfield links, made a terrific recovery in Friday's foursomes and fourballs.

British bookies had made the Americans standout favorites to retain the trophy. But after that first day of British successes, the odds didn't look so good.

Now, with the teams tied, there was a distinct feeling among the thousands of Scottish golf fans here that the U.S. players would romp home on the final day.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:
A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Pupernity Suit

LONDON (AP) — Mrs. Jessie Way is seeking compensation from the Hamersmith district council because her pedigree boxer bitch, Tammy, was accidentally let out by municipal workmen and the result was eight mongrel pups.

"It's costing me around $24 a week," explained Mrs. Way, 46. "I obviously can't sue the father for maintenance, but I think the council should pay up."

Great Band Show Delights Grid Crowd

Fans at Friday night's football game between Circleville and Athens saw a fine football game but it was jelly on the bread when the Circleville High School band, The Athens marching band, the Circleville Junior High band and the Tiger seventh grade band delighted the crowd with their performances.

The Circleville Junior High aggregation, under the direction of Clifford Kerns and led into the field by drum majorette, Kim Thomas, put on a clever, crowd pleasing performance in the pre-game ceremonies with a musical rendition featuring commercial products on display.

They were joined by the Circleville High School and the seventh grade bands for the playing of the Star Spangled Banner, conducted by Candace Cotton.

At halftime, a fine Athens band marched onto the field under the direction of field commander Julie Brophy. They thrilled the crowd with their renditions of "Eli's Coming" and "The First Time Ever I Saw Your Face".

Attired in their snappy green and gold uniforms, they then put the crowd on their feet with a musical dance routine to the tune of "Ain't Been Good."

Aldrin's Book Seen Possibility For Motion Picture

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—Former astronaut Edwin "Buzz" Aldrin already has been thinking about the movie version of his autobiography, "Return to Earth," in which he tells of a torrid extramarital affair with a New York divorcee.

The book raised eyebrows by breaking with what Aldrin said was an attempt to portray U.S. astronauts as all-American Jack Armstrong types.

During a Cleveland appearance this week to promote sales of the book, Aldrin and his wife revealed that one of their children suggested Paul Newman and Joanne Woodward play the couple in the screen version.

Aldrin was asked who should play the divorcee.

"Raquel Welch," he said.

TOTALLED — This car was demolished in a single car accident on the Circleville-Kingston Road, 3:10 p.m. Friday. Sue E. Cooley received head, neck and back injuries and was treated and released at Chillicothe Hospital.

Pickaway County Sheriff's Deputies investigated two injury accidents Friday resulting in one citation.

Sue E. Cooley, 32, Kingston, was treated and released at Chillicothe Hospital for head, neck and back injuries sustained in a one-car accident 3:10 p.m. Friday on the Circleville-Kingston Road.

According to the report taken by Sheriff's Deputies Robert Hoover and J. Phillip Brown, the car went off the right berm of the road, causing the driver to lose control.

After going back onto the road, the auto skidded off the right side into a ditch. The car ran into a farm fence owned by Harold Defenbaugh, and clipped an electric pole, pulling down electrical wires.

Earl M. Bailey, 46, Route 2, Beaver, was cited for failure to yield the right of way when he was involved in a two-car accident 6:25 p.m. Friday at the intersection of U. S. Route 22 west and State Route 104.

Bailey stopped for the stop light at Route 104 and then pulled into the path of a car driven by Jacob Norman Leist, 51, Route 2, Williamsport.
